Hongkone, August 31st, 1385. A SPECIAL committee of the San Francisco board of Supervisors has made a valuable report on the Chinese quarter of San Francisco. The Chinese population of the city is said to be 30,360, that being the lowest possible estimate that can be made. This amounts to about one seventh of the total population of the city. The following statement is given . the number of Chinese women and children: Living, as families, 57 women, 59 children 761 women and 576 children herded together with apparent indiscriminate parental relations, and no family classification, so far as could be ascertained; 567 professional prostitutes and 87 children living together. The proportion of women to men is therefore remarkably small. Under the head of "The General Aspect of the Locality," the Committee say: -" All great cities have their slums and localities where filth, disease, crime, and misery abound; but in the very best aspect which Chinatown can be made to present, it must stand apart. conspicuous and beyond them all in the extreme degree of all these horrible attributes, the rankest outgrowth of human degradation that can be found upon this instant, continent. It is complained of them that they do not assimilate with the rest of the population, but the fact is that very little chance of assimilation is afforded them. This evident wish and intention to keep the Chinese apart must be existing state of things. What can they do under the circumstances but herd volleys were fired. together? A very important part of the Supervisors' report is that relating to taxation, but it is merely summarised in the newspapers. From the summary we learn that as taxpayers the Chinese pay about .003 of the taxes. In the State all real and personal property assessed to Chinese does not exceed $1,500,000. The rate of State tax is sixty-four cents on each $100, and the reon property held by Chinese does not exceed $9,600. The Chinese population, amounting to at least one sixth of the whole population, pays less than one four-hundredth part of the revenue required to support the Sinte government. The net cost to the State of keeping 198 Chinese prisoners in the State Prison is not less than $21,600 per annum. a sum $12,000 in excess of the whole amount s'ate in other ways, as, for instance, municipal rates and Customs dues, but living in Communications on Editorial matters should be the crowded and sordid condition they do it is clear that individually they must contribute far less to the general revenue than the white population do. But it is a prosperity and a happiness that is based upon a mode of life This welcome is well deserved; for, as worthy that a bourdess cur upon the streets might not envy, upon which the American labourer could not exist until a succession of generations had so brutalized and blunted his race proclivities that he had degenerated into a condition worse than barbarism and become a curse to civilization, instead of what he is to-day, the vital strength of the nation." This language appears somewhat heared, to say the least of it. It must be borne in mind that at one time cleap labour was the crying need of California, and the Chinese supplied that need; it was they who constructed for the most part the trans-continental milway which united the west with the cast.
